CORONADO HS COMPLETES UNPRECEDENTED SWEEP OF NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

Teams have won both the doublehanded fleet championship and the team racing championship in the same year — Palmetto HS in 1994 and Newport Harbor HS last year — but no school has managed to win a Cressy title as well as the Mallory and Baker regattas until this year. The Coronado HS won the doublehanded championship May 12-13 with ease, building its lead from the second race until the finish. Then, two weeks later the Coronado team again was on the East Coast where it won the team racing championship in a tighter regatta.

Coronado HS represented by Mikee Anderson-Mitterling had already won the radial division of the 2001 Cressy singlehanded championship last fall.

Clearly California school teams have become dominant in ISSA championship regattas in the last few years. In the doublehanded competition for the Mallory Trophy West Coast schools have won eight of the last 10 regattas and for the Baker team racing championship they have won five out of the last six.

MALLORY REGATTA

The 2001 Mallory regatta sailed May 12-13 at College of Charleston gave ample evidence of the superiority of the five California schools as PCISA entries took the top four places plus 9th in the 20-team event.

Coronado HS was led by Anderson-Mitterling sailing with crew Lauren Usrey in B Division as overall low-point crew. They had four first places in 11 races and no finish lower than 5th. The Coronado A Division crew of Brian Haines/Blaire Herron added a pair of first places.

Runner up was The Bishop's School of LaJolla, CA with U. of San Diego HS in third. The fourth PCISA team was Point Loma HS. The first team to break the West Coast domination was St. George's School of Newport, RI whose crew of Andrew Watters/Missie Walker and Christina Starr was low-point in Division A.

The win for Coronado HS was particularly satisfying since the team had been runner-up for the championship the two previous years, losing both times to California rivals, in 1999 to University of San Diego HS and in 2000 to Newport Harbor HS. Moreover, the team poses a major threat to successfully defend its titles; its two top skippers, Mikee Anderson-Mitterling and Brian Haines, are juniors and there are no seniors on the team that competed in the two championships.

Racing was in Charleston Harbor out of the College of Charleston Sailing Center in conditions that were superb with varying amounts of wind from a variety of directions. Interestingly there was no "home team," since no school from the northern area of SAISA qualified for a district berth.

President's Message

Dear Sailors and Friends,

It's hard for me to pick a favorite year, but this one will be high on the list. In 2001 we saw ever-increasing participation both in member school teams and in informal leagues and high school sailing programs at clubs, colleges, and community sailing centers. Sixty-one new or revived teams received grants from West Marine, our new partner of two years. Numbers don't quite tell the story, however. The enthusiasm with which the notion of school sailing has captured everyone's imagination is truly wonderful. Sailing teaches so many things about living and it's such fun. Even in a year of a dues increase we showed continued growth.

Someone had better figure out what they're doing on the West Coast. For yet another year the Californians have captured the honors and for the first time ever, one team has won all three national championships. Coronado HS not only won the Mallory and Baker, but Mikee Anderson-Mitterling of Coronado HS won the radial division at the 2001 Cressy last fall. He goes to the US SAILING O'Day championship along with Bryan Lake, who replaces Cressy full-rig winner Andrew Campbell. Andrew has another regatta that takes precedence — an invitation to the Laser Worlds!

Vanguard continues as our steadfast and long-standing partner in the growth and development of ISSA, helping with boats and sails for regattas, fleet discounts for teams, and an annual cash grant to ISSA for special projects. We couldn't have a better friend.

SAIL AMERICA is now on board as a partner with a second annual grant to help us spread the word about school sailing. We look forward to a long association with this industry group, which merged with our long-time friends the National Sailing Industry Association.

Last year we moved the Annual Meeting of the Corporation to the beginning of the school year, the last Saturday in September. Our 2001 AGM will be at St. Francis YC (San Francisco). Further details including the agenda and the slate of officers will be mailed to Districts and posted on the ISSA website (highschoolsailingusa.org)

The ISSA Procedural Rules have been revised to comply with the new ISAF Racing Rules of Sailing with US SAILING prescriptions. There are few changes of note: the coaching rule has been eased and we have retained the red flag to signal protests. The flag reinforces a decision and is not forbidden under the new rules. Boats "of hull length less than 6 metres need not display the flag" is how the rule (RRS 61.1) reads.

Our Guidelines for Championships have also been revised to reflect the new rules and will also be published this summer, available to anyone who wants them whether in print or downloaded.

Roy Williams has completed these two projects with his usual efficiency. Thank you, Roy.

The ISSA Race management booklet will also be revised over the summer.

We report with some sadness that Roger Rawlings has had to step down as Secretary/Treasurer of ISSA due to the press of other business. Roger has done a marvelous job and we will miss him although he continues as President of NESSA and as an ISSA Director.

Have a wonderful summer. See you in the fall.

BAKER REGATTA

The first day of the Baker Regatta at Tabor Academy was devoted to a 66-race qualifying round robin to determine teams in each of the Championship, Silver and Bronze series the second day. Coronado HS, University of San Diego HS, and Jesuit HS, all with 9-2 records, and Lakewood HS with 8-3 qualified for the Championship round.

The final championship double round-robin series was evenly fought as all four teams remained in contention to the last races. In those races Coronado HS beat Jesuit HS to take the title and University and University outsailed Lakewood HS to assure second place. In turn Lakewood HS took third by virtue of its head-to-head tiebreaker with Jesuit HS.

The Silver and Bronze consolation series had single round robins.

REPORTS from THE DISTRICTS

MASSA

St. Mary's HS and the Key School, both of Annapolis, ended up tied for the combined fall and spring district championship. Southern Regional HS of New Jersey and Severn School of Annapolis finished in a tie for third.

Several ties marked the final results of the MASSA spring championship but Pt. Pleasant HS (NJ) was alone in first with 31 points. Southern Regional HS, Key School and Hampton Roads HS (VA) tied for second just one point behind the leader. The rest of the spring standings were St. Mary's HS 29, Severn HS, Annapolis HS and McQuaid HS tied 28, Anne Arundel Christian School 25, Southern HS (MD) 24, Broadneck HS 16, Gunston School 15, St. Anthony's HS 12, Severna Park HS 10, Patuxent HS 9, Richard Montgomery HS 8, Christ Church School, Manhasset HS and Pt. Jefferson HS each with 6, Stony Brook School and Wilde Lake HS with 5, Huntington HS 4, and Scarsdale HS 2

NWISA

Scott Boye reports that his Northwest district concluded a successful season, successful in several ways. All the district member schools participated in the kick-off regatta at Whidbey Island. The district formalized its organization, adopting by-laws and electing officers.

After the kick-off regatta there was a battery of dual team racing meetings between schools plus a district-wide team racing regatta and clinic at North Kitsap HS in April.

The NWISA doublehanded championship was at Anacortes YC in Lido 14s and included a rules seminar by Dick Rose on Sunday when wind conditions prevented sailing the remainder of the regatta. North Kitsap HS was declared the winner based on Saturday's results.

The district team racing championship was at Friday Harbor May 5-6. Strong winds Saturday afternoon delayed racing until one round robin late in the day. The next day the wind was light but after a second round robin and a sailoff Bainbridge Island HS was the winner and qualified for the Baker championship.

The Laser full-rig champion is Emery Wager of Lakeside School and the radial-rig champion is Brice Parsons of Chemicum HS. NWISA moved its singlehanded championship and Cressy qualifier to the spring to enable its singlehanders to train during the spring sailing season. The championship was held during Seattle YC's SOCKS regatta.

NESSA

By all accounts the spring sailing season for NESSA was a rousing success. The district championship came off without a hitch and the Tabor Academy event committee led by Chairman Rob Hurd did an outstanding job running the Baker team racing regatta.

After regional elimination regattas, 15 schools sailed the final series for the George O'Day Trophy and the New England doublehanded fleet racing championship April 22. Milton Academy won the championship followed by St. George's School, Brunswick School, The Williams School, and Choate-Rosemary Hall School, all of which qualified for the Mallory national championship. The O'Day regatta was sailed at Bristol, RI, hosted by Portsmouth Abbey School in winds that became so strong that racing had to be abandoned after five races in each division.

The Williams School won the NESSA team racing championship and the Fritz Mark Trophy when a tie with Tabor Academy was broken in favor of Williams. Each team had a 10-3 record but Williams had defeated Tabor two races to one. Portsmouth Abbey with a record of 8-5 followed the two leaders. The three schools went on to represent NESSA in the national team racing championship sailed at the same site as the NESSA regatta, Tabor Academy.

Tabor Academy won the NESSA Women's Invitational May 27 at the USCG Academy with Rogers HS second and Greenwich Academy third. Fifteen schools took part in what is becoming a major event on the NESSA spring schedule.

The Hotchkiss School topped 14 other schools to win the Connecticut High School Championship May 20 at USCGA. Brunswick School was second, Fairfield HS third.

MWISA

Plans are underway in MWISA to host the 2002 Baker team racing championship May 25-26 at Grosse Pointe YC in Detroit.

A recap of the 2001 spring season includes a successful Icebreaker Regatta that had seven teams at Chicago YC. St. Ignatius HS and New Trier HS wound up tied for first, the tie broken in favor of St. Ignatius by virtue of one more first place. At the Baker eliminations Loyola Academy edged Grosse Pointe South HS to become the MWISA representative in the Baker national championship. Fifteen schools competed for the doublehanded championship and Mallory qualifier in 12 races sailed in light to moderate winds at Monroe Harbor co-hosted by Chicago YC and Columbia YC. Orono HS (MN) won, comfortably ahead of a tight battle for second place and the second berth in the national championship. In the end New Trier HS edged Grosse Pointe South.

District eliminations for the Cressy regatta will be at Lake Minnetonka, MN. Lake Forest HS will host the Halloween Regatta and Chicago YC will put on the Great Lakes Championship to close the fall season.

PCISA

The final event in the district championship series that determines the PCISA entries in the Mallory regatta is the championship regatta for the Bill Wakeman Trophy. This year it was sailed April 21-22 at the Coronado YC and won by University of San Diego HS. Coronado HS was second followed by Pt. Loma HS, Bishops School, and Newport Harbor HS. Santa Barbara HS was sixth but became the fifth qualifier for the Mallory because its point total from the three previous series regattas was enough to let it outscore NHHS.

Wind conditions for the two-day event saw heavy stuff on Saturday followed by more moderate conditions on Sunday that gave the lighter crews a measure of revenge for their disadvantage the day before. A total of 24 races were sailed by the 21 teams in the Gold Fleet.

Overall winner of the championship series was Coronado HS for which it received a new perpetual award, the Roy B. Disney Trophy. The Disney Trophy, a half-model of his yacht Pyewacket, recognizes the considerable support Roy Disney has shown youth sailing in California. The top five places: Coronado HS 59 point, U. of San Diego HS 54, The Bishops School 35, Santa Barbara HS 33, and Newport Harbor HS 28.

In the Silver Fleet the top finisher was Newport Harbor HS followed by Mater Dei HS, Stevenson School, Coronado HS, and Tamalpais HS. The Silver fleet consists of varsity crews of schools failing to qualify for the Gold Fleet and JV teams from bigger programs.

The PCISA team racing championship was won by Coronado HS with a final record of 12 wins, three losses. U. of San Diego HS was second with the same record except that all three losses were to Coronado. Newport Harbor HS finished third and Marin Catholic HS fourth. The top three represented PCISA at the Baker championship.

PCISA will host the 2002 Annual meeting of ISSA in San Francisco at the St. Francis YC Saturday, September 29 starting at 0900. A detailed agenda will be available prior to the meeting and a tour of the 2002 Mallory regatta site on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay is planned if time permits. The 2002 Mallory championship will be May 11-12, 2002.

SAISA

The SAISA spring season reached a climax when, under the direction of John Gervais and George Wood of the host College of Charleston, it successfully ran the 2001 doublehanded national championship for the Mallory Trophy.

In its district championship Lakewood HS easily topped the 16-school field at College of Charleston. The fleet sailed 28 races in two days in southerly winds of 8-10. Florida schools took the top five places, trumping the home-waters advantage of the northern entries. The Lakewood HS team of Ryan Druyer/Mike Slater and Kevin Reali/Everett Jones won by 28 points over runner-up Community School of Naples that won a tie-breaker against St. Petersburg HS. The three schools earned the chance to return to Charleston to represent SAISA in the Mallory regatta three weeks later.

Three schools entered the district team racing championship and qualification for the Baker regatta. The event sailed at Jensen Beach had two schools from St. Petersburg, the winner Lakewood HS and runner-up St. Petersburg HS, plus the "home team," Martin County HS. Lakewood HS and St. Petersburg HS went on to compete in the Baker regatta at Marion, MA.

The slim turnout for the team racing championship has been typical of the situation in the district, but according to District Director Tom Monkus, there will be a greater emphasis on team racing next year.

CHAMPIONSHIP ALLOCATIONS

The final district allocations of berths for the 2002 Cressy regatta are set as are preliminary allocations for the 2002 Mallory and Baker regattas. These allocations are based on dues received by the end of the 2000-2001 school year this spring. The final Mallory and Baker allocations will be based on dues received by the due date for the school year 2001-2002 on 1 January, 2002.

Allocations are made on the basis of the school memberships of each district either for the past year or the current year, whichever is higher, and determining what proportion of the membership is of the total membership of all the districts.

Member District	PRELIMINARY ALLOCATIONS		FINAL ALLOCATIONS
	Mallory	Baker	Cressy Radial	Cressy Full
New England SSA	6	3	4	4
Mid-Atlantic SSA	2	1	2	2
South Atlantic ISA	3	2	2	2
Mid-West ISA	2	1	2	2
Southeast ISA	1	1	1	1
Northwest ISA	1	1	1	1
Pacific ISA	5	3	4	4

Cressy entries select the rig they will use for the entire series from eliminations through the finals.

Are you planning to sail in college?

If so, check out Christopher Newport.

Sailing is a varsity sport at Christopher Newport, but we are every bit as concerned with the individual sailor's development as we are with winning. We sail in the Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate Sailing Association, one of the toughest in the country where our sailors become better by sailing against the best.

If you want sailing to be a part of your college experience, consider CNU. You don't have to be a "rock star" to make our team. If you are a "good" sailor with a commitment to becoming better and a sincere desire to be a part of a team, we want you.

ANNUAL ISSA MEETING IN SAN FRANCISCO THIS FALL

The annual meeting of ISSA members will be Saturday, September 29 at the St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco with PCISA as host district. Three years ago ISSA voted to move the AGM from its traditional March date to the beginning of the school year on the last Saturday in September. It also voted to move the site of the meeting around the country. The meeting this fall will be the second AGM held in the fall and the second hosted by a district other than NESSA.

The agenda for the meeting and the proposed slate of Officers and Directors in the Nominating Committee Report will be posted on the ISSA website by the first week in September. Each district names one representative on the Board of Directors and is invited to propose at least one other nominee as a Board Member-at-Large.

Plans for the annual meeting include a visit to the venue for the 2002 Mallory regatta on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay. All representatives of member schools, individual members, and others interested in school sailing are heartily invited to attend. For other details, check the website www.highschoolsailingusa.org.

ISSA CHAMPIONSHIP ROTATION SET

The sites of ISSA National Championships are rotated through the several districts to encourage variety in the competition and fellowship among the sailors. Each gets to host the others. The Mallory and Baker rotations are based on equalization of travel costs for distant teams. The rotation of the Cressy regatta tends to follow the college (ICSA) singlehanded championship schedule since we share a fleet of Vanguard -supplied Lasers. The Cressy, while denoting the championship school year, actually is sailed in the preceding calendar year (e.g. 2002 Cressy is in the fall of 2001).

Planning for championships can start two years ahead and the NORs can be published well ahead of time.

Districts wishing to a change in the schedule can arrange an exchange with another district and submit it to the Board of Directors for approval.

ODDS and ENDS

- The success of the NESSA Women's Invitational regatta and the enthusiasm the Northwest ISA has for promoting a women's championship could prompt every district to schedule a women's invitational.
- It will be a busy summer of publishing. Due out by fall are the revised ISSA Procedural Rules, updated Simplified Race Management booklet, Guidelines for Championships, and the 2001-2002 Directory-Yearbook. We are also working on an updated issue of Starting Your Own High School Sailing Team, Coaching a High School Sailing Team, and history of school sailing plus a new edition of Team Racing for Sailboats. Check the box These Can Help in this issue of the newsletter and keep your eye on the website.
- Forty years ago as school sailing organized itself in New England, team racing, notably dual meets between schools, developed as the most popular and common expression of the sport. Indeed the trend even predated the growth of team racing in the colleges and nationally. Now New England's lead in this aspect of sailing may have disappeared completely. In the 2001 Baker team racing championship the best NESSA-school showing was sixth. All three California schools plus schools from New Orleans and Florida, neither area by any means a hotbed of team racing, finished ahead of New England. Indeed, none of the New England teams even had a winning record.

- More and more, the list of collegiate All-Americans includes alumni of school sailing programs.
